1. The movement of grain on the Peiping-Mukden Railway and by boat from Dairen and Ying'ko (N 40-40, E 122-13) to Tientsin and other cities in North China has been stopped by order of the Chinese Communist Government. Nevertheless, grain is still being exported to the USSR.¹ The Chinese Communist Government company which formerly bought grain for the Chinese Communist Army has been closed and its stores of grain have been frozen by government order.²
2. Communist authorities have prohibited additional issues of JMP, and all notes already in circulation are stamped "Northwest Administrative Area." This control is officially explained as a temporary measure prior to the issuance of new currency.
